

Futuro Health is offering the opportunity for qualified applicants* to enroll in our Patient Care Representative Program, tuition-free.

About Patient Care Representatives

Patient Care Representatives (PCR) collaborate with healthcare professionals to improve care quality. A PCR may schedule follow-up appointments; screen/monitor patients using questions about mental health or other issues; keep track of records, statistics, and data bases; and more.

PCRs are also known as:

- Patient Care Advocate
- Panel Manager
- Medicaid Service Coordinator (MSC)
- Patient Access Coordinator or Specialist

Fast Facts about the Futuro Health Program:

- This is an 8-week program designed for allied health professionals who have a year of working experience in a patient-facing role.
- Participants who are accepted will be able to attend tuition-free thanks to Futuro Health scholarships.
- To ensure commitment and completion, participants are required to pay a one-time $100 non-refundable registration fee.

Following completion of the program, students will earn a digital badge and be prepared to work in hospital, clinic or home setting where they will work with patients to find and use resources that improve care quality under the guidance of and in partnership with other health care professionals.

Minimum Qualifications
